

Margaret & David: 25 years of Talking Movies

Interactive Museum Exhibition >> client: ACMI, Federation Square, Melbourne >> 2011

Photos Benjamin Healley

DAVID

1970-1975
David joined the Australian Film Commission in 1970, where he worked for five years. He was instrumental in the development of the Australian film industry, particularly in the area of funding and distribution. He was also involved in the production of several films, including 'The Year of Living Dangerously' and 'The Year of the Dog'.

1976-1980
David moved to the United States in 1976, where he worked for several years for the American Film Institute. He was involved in the production of several films, including 'The Godfather Part II' and 'The Untouchables'.

1981-1985
David returned to Australia in 1981, where he worked for several years for the Australian Film Commission. He was instrumental in the development of the Australian film industry, particularly in the area of funding and distribution. He was also involved in the production of several films, including 'The Year of Living Dangerously' and 'The Year of the Dog'.

Margaret

1976-1980
Margaret worked for several years for the Australian Film Commission, where she was instrumental in the development of the Australian film industry, particularly in the area of funding and distribution. She was also involved in the production of several films, including 'The Year of Living Dangerously' and 'The Year of the Dog'.

1981-1985
Margaret moved to the United States in 1981, where she worked for several years for the American Film Institute. She was instrumental in the development of the American film industry, particularly in the area of funding and distribution. She was also involved in the production of several films, including 'The Godfather Part II' and 'The Untouchables'.

1986-1990
Margaret returned to Australia in 1986, where she worked for several years for the Australian Film Commission. She was instrumental in the development of the Australian film industry, particularly in the area of funding and distribution. She was also involved in the production of several films, including 'The Year of Living Dangerously' and 'The Year of the Dog'.

Margaret & David: 25 years of Talking Movies

Interactive Museum Exhibition >> client: ACMI, Federation Square, Melbourne >> 2011